DIVA Prima Guide

Thank you for purchasing Waveformless Soundware's "DIVA Prima" bank for u-he's DIVA softsynth! We're sure you're anxious to get started using your new sounds, so let's get started!

Installation

"DIVA Prima" includes 128 brand new presets for u-he's DIVA saved as individual ".h2p" files (DIVA's native preset format). (Technically, there are 129 patches, as we've included a simple "INIT" patch you can use as a starter to programming your own killer patches!) The files are saved inside the "Waveformless DIVA Prima" folder which you'll find inside the main "DIVA Primaƒ" folder.   To install your new presets, simply drag the "Waveformless DIVA Prima" folder to the proper DIVA presets folder for your particular computer's OS.

On a Mac, you'll find it at:

Macintosh HD/Library/Audio/Presets/u-he/DIVA

On a PC, you'll find it at:

Your Hard Drive Name/VST Plug-ins/Diva.data/Presets/Diva/

Boom! You're done! How easy was that? Now, simply launch your host of choice, select DIVA, and you should find a new folder of presets in DIVA's patch browser called "Waveformless DIVA Prima". Open that folder and there you'll find your new patches!

When you audition your new patches, be sure to check out what the mod wheel or aftertouch does. It might be something subtle like opening the filter or adding vibrato, or it might be something much more striking via crossmod or filter FM, but almost every patch has some sort of modulation assigned to it for more expressive sounds.

A Word About Patch Volumes

We've tried to keep the volumes from patch to patch somewhat even, but you may notice a difference in the initial volume of mono patches versus ones made for playing chords. This is to allow the headroom for you to play those chords and the increased cumulative volume that entails without the sound breaking up.

A Word About Processor Use
By now you're surely aware that that DIVA is every bit as greedy as her name would indicate when it comes to CPU. Depending on your computer's processing power, it's possible some of the polyphonic patches could bring your system to its knees. If that happens, first, make sure you've enabled processor multi-threading. Also, consider setting the playback quality to a lower setting and rendering out your tracks at Divine quality for best results.
