About Panora

Congratulations on purchasing Panora!

PANORA takes its cues from a particular strain of '70s and '80s electronica: imagined journeys, unfamiliar landscapes, distant worlds... and the occasional brush with period library music.

The soundset follows this arc quite deliberately: Its '70s side is a little rougher around the edges — warmer, dustier, less perfectly tuned and more willing to drift. The '80s side clears the haze, being cleaner, tighter and more polished, without losing the overall plot.

There are echoes of synth-based vinyl whose covers promised vast horizons, glowing skies, strange planets... and impossibly alien architecture. PANORA doesn't try to faithfully recreate the sounds of any particular artist or style, but rather taps into the optimism and sense of possibility that pervaded the arts of those decades.

Expect dusty, windswept vistas, gentle pads, quirky “found instruments”, alien percussion, strange melodies from the unfamiliar to the quietly menacing — all sitting somewhere between movie soundtrack, electronic concept album and the more eccentric side of functional music.

PANORA isn't entirely nostalgic. Instead, it uses the musical vocabulary of two innovative decades of electronica as the starting ramp for a journey to somewhere new.

Performance Control

Most of these presets let you create various effects by applying aftertouch and/or the lefthand controls on your MIDI keyboard. The performance controls used in each preset are listed in the Diva browser's PRESET INFO panel with the following abbreviations:

- MW = modulation wheel
- PB = pitch bender
- AT = aftertouch (pressure)
- VEL = velocity
- Ctrl A = Control A (user-defined MIDI CC) *
- Ctrl B = Control B (user-defined MIDI CC) *

* see the Diva user guide
